

Blaming the Jews

David Aaronovitch's stunning documentary "Blaming the Jews" gives us a inside peek at the mindset of the Muslim world in the Middle East, with a presentation will leave you soaking in a puddle of chills.

If you have questions about the underlying intent of Islam toward Israel and the West, this documentary should provide some answers. They may not be the answers you wanted to hear, but they are well presented and supported with facts, truth, and on-camera discussions with powerful people in the Muslim world.

This is a four-part streaming video series that is 38 minutes long between all four short videos. A must-see for anyone concerned about the current conflict, the chances for peace, and future of the world as we know it.
